DMS NEXT - WEB INTERFACE DEVELOPMENT

THE LATEST GENERATION OF DMS

The current infrastructure of Gartman's core application web presence is built upon ProFound Logic.

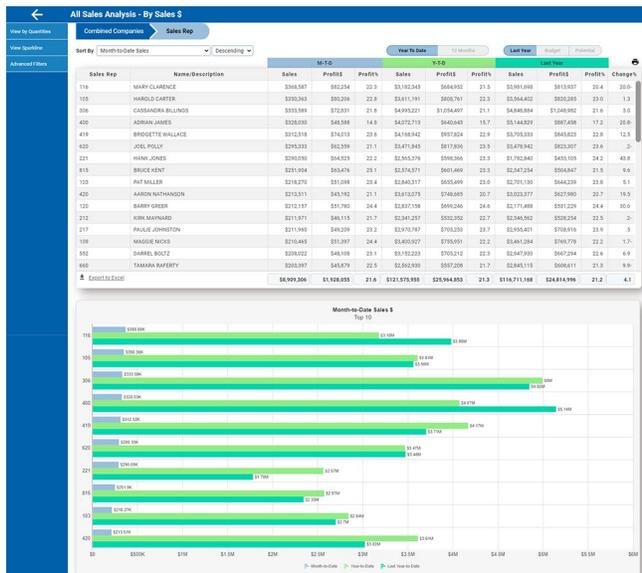

ProFound Logic describes it as "the all-in-one solution to transform existing RPG applications into GUI browser-based applications, or develop new, rich web and mobile interfaces."

Profound Logic has developed a framework that is much more dynamic than the common "screen scrapers" of the past. Their innovative framework is a conduit that acts as a web service portal which flawlessly executes the transactions between front and back end. This allows for a true separation between the user interface and the business logic.

For Gartman, DMS Next transforms our years of business knowledge into a modern web application, while still being able to utilize stand alone web services.
